DEDICATION

Mr. Robert Mudge

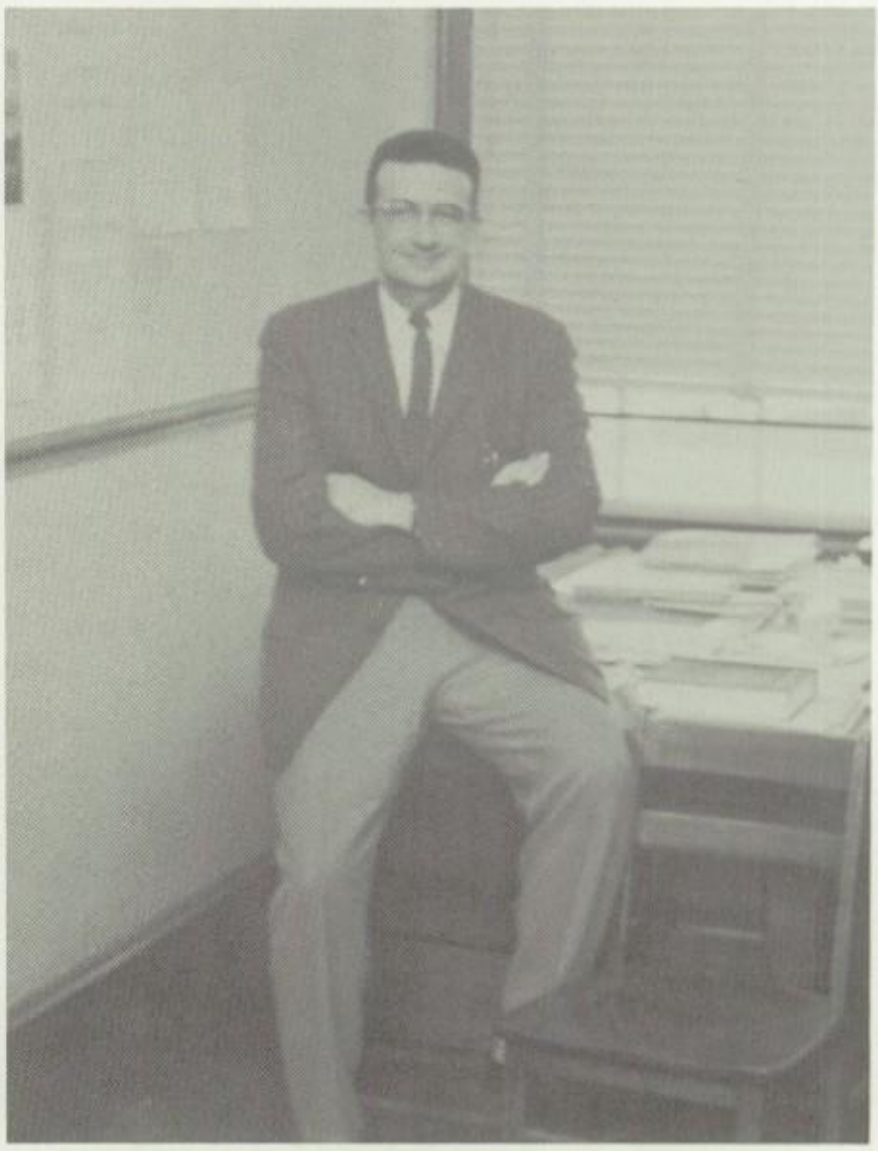
We, the Class of 1960, dedicate our Yearbook, The Bulldog, to Mr. Robert Mudge, the former vice-principal of Westerly High School.

Words alone cannot express our sincere appreciation for his untiring efforts and patience in guiding the students of our school in becoming better citizens.

Once again, our class wishes to express its thanks to you, Mr. Mudge, for everything you have done. We shall always remember you, and we will try to follow the many examples you have shown us in the past years.

IN APPRECIATION

Mrs. Kathryn Moore



Mr. Donald Love

To the two people, Mrs. Kathryn Moore and Mr. Donald Love, who have been our guiding lights at Westerly High School, the Class of 1960 wishes to extend a most heart-filled thanks for their never-failing kindness and help. Whenever we were depressed, they were always there, ready and willing to console us. Words alone cannot suffice to express our deep gratitude. The amazing way in which you, Mrs. Moore, and you, Mr. Love, advised us concerning "our" special problem, no matter how trivial, will remain a part of us forever.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS
WESTERLY, R. I.
OFFICE OF SUPERINTENDENT

If you expect to be successful in every venture, you are dreaming; the wide awake person expects and accepts setbacks as a part of life. The only way to avoid failing is to do nothing. Remember, - "Nothing attempted, nothing gained". Resolve that if you must fail, you are going to fail while trying to succeed.

Even though you can not control what will happen to you after you graduate, you can control how you react to your failures. You must learn to make them into building blocks instead of stumbling blocks. As you earnestly work for success you must be prepared to learn from your mistakes and make the most of them. So, I wish you many challenges - and great success.

CLASS OF 1960:

I am always pleased to compliment anyone when he successfully completes an assigned task, and each of you seniors has accomplished this task in a commendable way. As you graduate from this school, I have a feeling of pride. I am proud not only of you who are about to graduate but also of Westerly High School with its efficient staff of teachers who have so ably helped to prepare you for a life of usefulness and service. Too, I am equally proud of the mothers and dads who have encouraged, advised, and assisted you young men and women to overcome many obstacles.

You have proved your abilities and show promise of greater accomplishments in the future. Let me congratulate you on the fine records that you have made and wish you the best of luck in the future.

Sincerely yours,
Hollice L. Stevens

Fellow Classmates, Teachers, Parents, and Friends:

The common path we have tread together for the past three years has ended. We have reached the portals to the future, which only by means of our diplomas can be unlocked.

In retrospect, memories of our life together return. No more do we feel the insecurity and inquisitiveness we as Sophomores felt. No longer are we able to look forward to the plans of our Senior year, to the excitement of proms and dances, to the organization of plays and concerts, to the undivided interest of our sports program—to the satisfaction of accomplishment as a unit.

Behind this door are individual paths stretching far and wide, separating the components of this world. Perhaps some of the roadways of this maze may cross, bringing a few together once more and again perhaps our paths will be paralleled forever.

Before we turn the key to our future lives, we sincerely extend our gratefulness to our parents, who have sacrificed so that we might obtain all that we have; to our teachers, who patiently strove to clear the briars and branches blocking passage; to Mrs. Moore and Mr. Love, our guidance counselors, who have led us through the thickets of education in this vast forest of knowledge; and finally to Miss Gernsheimer, not forgetting her vital contributions.

As the door is finally opened and we boldly confront the tribulations of the adult world, may we never forget the major roles Westerly High School has prominently played in preparing us for higher education, for responsibility, and for human society.

MICHAEL P. DEFANTI,
President, Class of 1960.

SOPHOMORE HISTORY

On September 4, 1957, students from the Babcock Junior High, Immaculate Conception, Ashaway, and Hope Valley Schools met for the first time as the Class of 1960. For a few weeks after this meeting there were many confused and excited Sophomores traversing the halls of Westerly High School trying to acclimate themselves to their newly found freedoms, curriculum, and teachers. Gradually, as the feeling of confusion and excitement subsided, the new feeling of unity and school spirit emerged.

Our initial act as a class was the election of Michael DeFanti and Mary Turrisi as Sophomore Yearbook representatives. This took place under the direction of Mr. Cyrus Morgan, our class advisor. The election of homeroom representatives to the Student Council soon followed. The members chosen were: Sam Azzinaro, Judith Browne, Peter Chamberlain, Roger Hamilton, Charles Kitchen, Connie Morgan, Peter Meyer, Judy Tattersall, Mary Turrisi, and Steve Turrisi. Mid-year exams followed soon afterward. These exams were approached with awe and were completed with relief. Thus our first semester drew to a close.

The second semester was full of activity. Our class elected Peter Chamberlain, President; Michael DeFanti, Vice-President; Diana Dumelow, Secretary; and Dawn Keskinen, Treasurer. Mary Turrisi and Dawn Keskinen were chosen to represent our class on the court of the Sweetheart Swing. This dance was followed by our Sophomore Hop on May 21. Roger Hamilton, General Chairman, was assisted by a large committee under the direction of the following vice-chairmen: Connie Morgan, Almedia Munro, Judy Lord, Doreen Banning, Betsey Carpenter, and Louis Elmo. The lovely queen on the beautiful May evening was Diana Dumelow, attended by Dawn Deering, Nancy Gingerelli, Dawn Keskinen, Connie Morgan, Almedia Munro, and Francene Naccarato.

Toward the close of the year, new cheerleaders, who were to be the morale builders of the team, were chosen. They were Doreen Banning, Captain, Martha Nardone, Carole Walker, Francene Naccarato, and Kathy Brown. Kathy Brown was also the winner of the Martha C. Babcock Essay Contest.

Immediately after the announcement of the essay contest winner, final examinations were completed. Time stood still until we received our report cards. What a relief! We had completed the first hurdle; now there were only two more to go.

JUNIOR HISTORY

With summer behind us we returned to school feeling ready and competent to meet the challenge before us. We proceeded to elect representatives to the Student Council: Roger Hamilton, Martha Gencarelli, and Tony Itteilag; then followed the election of class officers: Michael DeFanti, President; Connie Garofalo, Vice-President; Beverly Viteritto, Secretary; and Roy Larson, Treasurer. Having placed the affairs of our class in the capable hands of our officers and class advisor, Miss Josephine Gernsheimer, we proceeded to the task before us—work, work, and more work.

The Junior Class elected Diane Ainsworth and Marlene Naccarato as its representatives to the Sweetheart Swing Court, and was honored when Marlene was chosen to reign as Queen of the Sweetheart Swing, an honor traditionally reserved for a Senior.

Our next project was the donation of a full page advertisement to the 1959 Yearbook. Joanne Aloe, Helen Brown, Patty DeBartolo, Alice DeTata, Jeannine Garceau, Connie Morgan, Lindy Ornberg, and Barbara Payne designed the layout for this ad-venture.

The beautiful "Shower of Stars" Junior Prom was held on April 4. This delightful evening was planned under the supervision of Mr. Robert Fallon, Prom Advisor, and Nancy Delicato, Chairman, assisted by seventy-three hard-working committee members. Queen of the night was Nancy Delicato, attended by her ladies-in-waiting: Connie Morgan, Dawn Deering, Gloria Caldarone, Judy Browne, Diane Serra, and Doreen Banning.

Our class entered the field of civic affairs when Patty DeBartolo and Charles Ruisi were chosen to represent the school on the newly formed Westerly Youth Commission.

Lynda Sacco, John McFarland, Diana Dumelow, Michael DeFanti, and Peter Meyer, the members of the Chemistry Team, represented our school at the U.R.I. competition.

Francene Naccarato was chairman of the Senior Reception Committee. This party, honoring the Class of 1959, was the last social event of the year.

Soon final exams were over, and then came the day of reckoning. We received our final report cards and with them the knowledge that our Junior Year was behind us and before us was the wonderful, bright prospect of our Senior Year.

SENIOR HISTORY

Now that the fun and frolic of the summer were over, we returned to school on September 10, 1959. Our dream had finally become a reality for now we were the "big wheels" of the school. But with this realization came another. With next year's completion of the new regional high school, we would have been the last class from regional schools to graduate from Westerly High. A bit saddened by this thought, we settled down to our first order of business, class elections. After a hard fought campaign, Michael DeFanti was worthily chosen President; Brian Edmond, Vice-President and Treasurer; Rosalie Muntimuri, Secretary; and Almedia Munro, Social Chairman. In the following weeks, election of Student Council members took place under the supervision of the President, Tony Itteilag, and Vice-President, Roger Hamilton. Chosen for the Student Council were: Peter Chamberlain, Charles Kitchen, and Connie Garofalo.

Sports were a main interest at this time. It was football season and our team was under the leadership of the Co-Captains, Jim Felicetti, Charles Kitchen, and Joe LaPere. A new organization, the Girls' Athletic Association, was formed. Its officers were: Lucille Lupinacci, Chairman; Mary Turrisi, Vice-Chairman; Judy Lord, Recording Secretary; Judy Tattersall, Corresponding Secretary; and Lindy Ornberg, Intramural Chairman.

On November 14, the annual Senior Prom, "Bali Hai," took place under the direction of Almedia Munro and her committee heads; namely, Melinda Ornberg, Doreen Banning, Nancy Gingerelli, Connie Tobin, Dawn Deering, Shirley Falcone, and Eugene Gencarelli. Highlight of the evening was the coronation of the lovely queen, Almedia Munro, and the selection of her court, Dawn Deering, Judy Browne, Gloria Caldarone, Diane Serra, Kathy Brown, and Diana Dumelow. Previous to this event, the 1960 Yearbook Staff was chosen. Those heading it were Judy Lord and Beverly Viteritto, co-editors in-chief; and their editorial staff, John McFarland, Elaine Chiaradio, Sandra Alfiero, Michael DeFanti, Brian Edmond, Charles Ruisi, Almedia Munro, Nancy Gingerelli, Diana Ainsworth, and Tony Itteilag.

During the second semester, our basketball team, under the Co-Captainship of Peter Chamberlain, Roger Hamilton, and Maury Lamb, won its sixth consecutive Suburban League Championship. February 13, 1960, marked the occasion of the Sweetheart Swing. Seniors gracing the court were Patty Sheldon and lovely queen, Shirley Falcone. The time of awards was approaching. Judy Lord was the recipient of the D.A.R. Good Citizenship Award. Tony Itteilag earned the position of Valedictorian of our class and John Vetelino, that of Salutatorian. On March 30 and 31, the Senior play, "Charlie's Aunt," was presented under the direction of Mr. Carlson. With the oncoming of the end of our high school years, all the Seniors were anxious about graduation. During Senior Week, we were entertained at the Senior picnic, banquet, and reception. Then came the day we had all looked forward to—graduation. And so, armed with our diplomas, we now take our places in society.

CLASS WILL

I, Diane Ainsworth, do hereby bequeath my pad of blue slips to anyone who can write as much like Mr. Fallon as I can.

I, Sandra Alfiero, leave all my wise cracks in history to Mr. Fallon. They might come in handy next year.

I, John Algiere, leave my ability to legally finagle my way out of classes to Bob McFarland.

I, Richard Algiere, leave the lunch table to Chape Boumenot.

I, Ray Allen, leave my parking place to Steve Harris.

I, Joanne Aloe, leave my place on the cheering squad to the girl who will fill it, in the hope that she will enjoy, as much as I have, the wonderful experiences that go with it.

I, Susan Andrews, leave to D' Ann Sposato my long walk to school each morning, in the hope that she will get as much exercise from it as I have.

I, Henry Antoch, leave to Ronnie Dobson my standing place in back of the school every morning.

I, Martha Arnold, do hereby bequeath my French and chemistry texts to any underclassman, in the hope that he will have better luck with them.

I, Sam Azzinaro, leave to the next Senior class the headaches of having Skanky and all his new rules.

I, Edward Babcock, leave my place as a Senior to anyone who wants it.

I, Doreen Banning, do hereby bequeath to Tina Stone the position as captain of the cheerleaders, in the hope that she will enjoy working with the girls as much as I have.

I, Jonathan Barber, leave to Coach Peltier the high blood pressure he has acquired while having me as a student in the hope that it will lower next year.

I, George Beresford, do hereby leave my third year Italian books to anyone who wants them next year.

I, Jean Blinn, leave my locker to Bob Kennedy.

I, Brenda Bliven, do hereby bequeath to any Junior the right to operate the business machines in Room 16.

I, Sidney Brooks, do hereby bequeath all my French notes to Robert Jacques.

I, Brian Bliven, do hereby bequeath my locker and combination to anyone who thinks he can open it.

I, Anita Brown, leave the grease paint, the drafty dressing rooms, and the runny nylons to the make-up staff.

I, Helen Brown, do hereby bequeath to Jeannie Pescatelo my ability to remain quiet during my Senior year.

I, Kathy Brown, do hereby bequeath to my sister, Claudia, all the luck I've had at W.H.S., as well as my place on Miss Baruzzi's tardy list.

I, Richie Brown, leave to Joe Patton my neatly stacked locker.

We, Judy Browne and Anne Botelle, leave our physiology class with the hopes we'll never have to "butcher" another specimen.

I, Don Buchanan, leave my history book to anyone who wants it.

I, John Burbine, bequeath to Charles Tattersall my seat in economics class.

I, Joyce Burdick, leave my typewriter to anyone who knows how to use it.

I, Stephen Burdick, leave all my failing marks in history to anyone who wants them.

I, Francis Burns, leave all my "brains" to the White Rock boys.

I, Gloria Caldarone, leave my economics teacher, Mr. Gardner, to any girl who is lucky enough to have him.

I, Mike Capalbo, leave all my stolen goods to Bob Vitro and Sam Chimento.

I, Stephen Capizzano, leave my locker, which was so faithfully cluttered up by my partner with old lunches, smelly sneakers, and spoiled bananas, to an unsuspecting Junior.

I, Bob Carpenter, do hereby bequeath all my cigarette butts to Ruth Gallagher.

I, Joe Cayer, leave my position on the cross-country team to Chape Boumenot.

I, Joe Celico, leave my nest in Room 5 to whomever wants it.

I, Josie Chamberlain, leave my fun in Salesmanship and Retailing to anyone who can have as much fun as I had.

I, Pete Chamberlain, leave my proteges, Bob Sisson and Pete St. Onge, and my buddies, Shep Simmons and Bob Vitro.

I, Elaine Chiaradio, leave my jokes to Kay Nardone.

I, Margaret Choiniere, bequeath my ability to get along with Coach Peltier in physiology.

I, Andrew Clapham, do hereby bequeath my books, locker, and teachers, to the unfortunate ones who are to follow.

I, Richard Coduri, leave my Latin marks to some misguided Latin student.

I, Sarah Cofoni, leave my one week in Latin III to any ambitious Junior willing to continue with the course.

I, Howard Coleman, leave to the future Seniors my locker with the loose handle.

I, Joe Comolli, leave my job at Cosmo's Market.

I, Sharon Craig, do hereby bequeath my saxophone music and my seat in band to Lee Pietrallo and Don Wise.

I, Judy DeBernardo, do hereby bequeath my ability to be late for school to anyone who can do it as well as I could.

I, Patty DeBartolo, leave my forgetfulness concerning my locker combination to anyone who has a better memory than I.

I, Dawn Deering, do hereby leave all the good times I've had at W.H.S., no matter what complications were at hand, to Kay Nardone.

I, Michael DeFanti, do hereby bequeath to Chape Boumenot the right to use a bayonet.

I, Nancy Delicato, do hereby bequeath my ability to cut class to my cousin, Rosemarie.

I, Alice DeTata, leave my broken "Hippo" record to anyone who wants to start a collection of records that stick.

I, Elvira DiDomenico, do hereby bequeath to any Junior the privilege of pounding away on Roger J.'s antiques in his "really big" class.

I, Marie DiDomenico, do hereby bequeath my ability to smile at Mr. Stevens while sitting in the library for a certain unmentionable reason.

I, John Dionne, leave to any two Juniors my locker #201.

I, Janet Doney, do hereby bequeath my ability to be absent almost every Monday in a month to Roberta Doney and Donna Saunders.

I, William Dorr, leave my parking place in front of the school to any Junior who wants it.

I, Diana Dumelow, leave my terrible luck with lockers all three years to Kathy Neagle, hoping that she has better luck than I.

I, Brian Edmond, leave my red socks to Jack Henderson, in the hope that he will carry on the tradition.

I, Louis Elmo, do hereby bequeath my vigorous study habits to Carl Myllamacke with the hope that they may be of some value to him.

I, Betty Fair, following the wishes of my brother, Andy, bequeath my fairness in name and complexion to no one because it must be kept in the family.

I, Rose Marie Fairchild, leave my history book to anyone who likes history as much as I don't.

I, Fred Falcone, leave my footsteps to next year's Seniors.

I, Shirley Falcone, do hereby bequeath my long hair to Carole Giorno, in the hope that she can throw away her Spoolies.

We, Angie Ferraro, Lindy Ornberg, and Marsha Fauliso, leave the Stonington boys to any girl who is lucky enough to catch one.

I, Jim Felicetti, leave to Dennie Marie another chance to get out of school.

I, Bob Felicetti, leave my place in Mr. Gardner's heart to Frank Toscano.

I, John Flynn, leave my fun in study halls with Miss Endicott to Ronnie Carboni.

I, Roberta Freethy, leave to Dusty Saunders the hope that his Senior year will go by very, very quickly.

I, Barbara Galli, leave my unfortunate underclassmen and this school.

We, Carla Garofola and Jeanette Kuzenka, do hereby leave to John Donahue and Stanley Maine the privilege of skipping first period class.

I, Connie Garofalo, do hereby bequeath my knowledge on "how to study" to my two cousins, Dusty and Randy.

I, Jeannine Garceau, leave my male roles in Drama Club, hoping there will be more boys to play them.

I, Thomas Gavitt, do hereby bequeath to Wayne Ure my parking place.

I, Lorraine Gelinas, do hereby bequeath to Edith Restelli my old hockey socks.

I, Eugene Gencarelli, do hereby bequeath to Richie Boumenot my before-school driving and another year to graduate.

I, Martha Gencarelli, leave my dearest friend, Rae Ann. Take care of her.

I, Gerald Gent, leave my locker to any unfortunate person who can scamper through the bustle.

I, Thomas Gibney, do leave to Bob Sisson my cross-country shoes with the hope that they are big enough to fit.

I, Evelyn Greene, leave to Catherine Briggs all the happiness and success in her Senior year at the new high school.

I, Laura Greene, do hereby bequeath to my good friend, Pat Lumbardo, my seat in Room 6, seventh period.

I, Walter Grimes, leave my economic answers to Richard Gillis and his boys in 11G3.

I, Jack Gwaltney, leave Chape Boumenot my right to sit on the bench and watch the football games.

I, Raynola Hadfield, do hereby bequeath to my sister all my notes.

I, Rog Hamilton, do hereby bequeath to anyone my extraordinary good luck in playing on the same team with Kent "G. M." Curry and Maurice "C. L." Lamb.

I, Jack Hayden, do hereby leave my charm, personality, and sparkling vocabulary, which put the teachers in a daze, to William Beattie. Also I leave my perfect record as a "G" boy. Carry on!

I, Elizabeth Hunt, hereby leave all my good times at W.H.S. to Elaine Clancy.

I, Betsy Irvine, leave to Judianne Rathbun the right to extend her weekends till Tuesday.

I, Robert Jacobson, leave the honor of driving to school to anyone who can afford it.

I, David James, leave my clean locker to anyone in the Class of 1961 who can keep it that way.

I, Christine Johnson, leave my art board to anyone who will enjoy it as much as I did.

I, Michael Jones, leave my seat in the detention room to Chape.

I, Marilyn Joubert, leave my love of gym to Peggy Shibilio who I know loves it too.

I, Kenneth Kaye, leave my love of cars to anyone who can afford to support one.

I, Carolyn Kelly, leave to Jean Gervasini my ability to get into trouble in study halls, knowing that she doesn't need it.

I, Jackie Kenyon, leave those crazy music sessions to Sue Cundall and David Mashe.

I, Roger Kenyon, leave my place in Mr. Pelligrino's heart to Pete Zarkowski. I'm sure they'll be great friends.

I, Stephen Kenyon, pledge that we leave the money in our treasury for the Junior class.

I, Dawn Keskinen, do hereby bequeath my love of football players to anyone who thinks they can handle one.

I, Charlie Kitchen, leave to some lucky (?) musician my dented and unplayable sousaphone.

I, Deloras LaBreaque, leave my "A" in art to Orin Maine, who certainly deserves it.

I, Linda Lamb, leave my ability to stack lockers to someone who can use this ability as much as I did.

I, Lorraine LaPlante, do hereby bequeath to Patty O'Donnell my seat in English. I hope you do better than I did.

I, Mary Laplant, do hereby bequeath my locker in the alcove to anyone who is brave enough to get in there and fight.

I, Joe LaPere, leave Tom Albamonti another year to graduate.

I, John Langanke, leave my knife to anyone who likes to carve.

I, Roy Larson, leave to Dick Smith my place on the football team in hopes that he does better than I did.

I, Cathy Limanni, do hereby bequeath my cheat notes to Angela Parisi.

I, Ida Anne Lombardo, hereby leave my ability to smoke in the girls' room and not get caught to Serena Massaro.

I, Judith Lord, do hereby leave my wonderful Senior year to anyone to whom it will mean as much as it did to me.

I, Linda Lord, do hereby leave to Carole Giorno my car to drive the cheerleaders to the football and basketball games, hoping that she will have as much fun as I did in doing it.

I, Frank Lupinacci, do hereby bequeath to Chape Boumenot W.H.S. with all its strict rules.

I, Lucille Lupinacci, do hereby bequeath to anyone who wants it, my ability to flunk personal type.

I, Elaine Lussier, do hereby bequeath my locker to anyone who can make use of it at Westerly High.

I, Evelyn Martin, do hereby leave my long wavy hair and mascara to Roberta Doney.

We, Santa Longolucco and Barbara Mayhew leave our sympathy to anyone who has Mr. Patterson for study in Room 19.

I, Sandy Meyhew, leave my crazy ways to Barbara Barrus.

We, Peter Meyer and John McFarland, do hereby bequeath our much dented locker and all the road signs, dancing girls, cool mottos, and pigtails slashed from young females contained therein to some unsuspecting young Junior girl.

I, Sandy Mills, leave the typewriter, which I use, to whomever thinks they have time to keep turning the ribbon past the hole in it.

I, Ann Milne, do hereby bequeath to Bonnie Grant my driving ability (?) in hopes that she doesn't have as many close calls as I have had.

I, Connie Morgan, can't think of anything to leave anyone.

I, Robert Morrone, leave my history book to any poor soul who has history with Mr. Pettinicchio.

I, Almedia Munro, leave all the fun I have had at W.H.S. for the past three years to everyone.

I, Rosalie Muntimuri, leave to my brother, Dick, my ability to get to class on time and also all the fun I've had at W.H.S.

I, John Murphy, leave to Butch Gallagher my place in Mr. Pelligrino's heart.

I, Francene Naccarato, leave my cheering megaphone to any Sophomore girl who will get more use out of it than I did.

I, Marlene Naccarato, leave my ability to go steady three years to Margie Pryer in hopes that she continues where I left off.

We, Johanna Nadolny and Margaret Overend, do hereby bequeath our seat on the bus to any two girls who think they can live up to our record of maintaining a seat behind the heater.

I, Louis Narciso, leave to anybody who needs it, my ability to keep out of the watchful eye of Mr. Pelligrino.

I, Bonnie Nardone, do hereby leave to Sharon DeFanti my keen ability for mathematics. I hope she'll obtain better grades than I did.

We, Judy Nasse and Mary Noyes, do hereby bequeath our looms in the Art Room to anyone who has the patience and courage to work on them.

I, Angelo Paterno, do hereby bequeath to my brother the ability and fun of bailing school.

I, Barbara Payne, leave a bottle of tranquilizer pills to anyone who should be blessed with the teachers I've had.

I, Frank Perra, do hereby bequeath to William Kenneth my parking space at the south end of the school.

I, Charlie Phillips, do hereby bequeath my hidden pack of Lucky Strikes in the Boys' Room to anyone who can find them.

I, William Phillips, do hereby bequeath my hunger pangs during the 3rd period class to Elwood Johnson.

I, Adrian Piccolo, leave my love of chemistry to Van Prey.

I, Kenneth Porter, do hereby bequeath all of my high school textbooks to the janitor, to do as he sees fit; and to the graduating class I leave this well worded quotation: "Many are called, but few are chosen." Finally I leave my lock to my brother wishing him lots of luck in opening it.

I, Cathy Potter, do hereby bequeath to my cousin, Nancy Galluci, my ability to draw for the Yearbook (?) hoping she'll have as much fun getting out of study halls for staff meetings as I did. Also I leave my bookkeeping and filing books to Nancy Pignataro.

I, Edward Potter, do hereby bequeath my ever-smiling chemistry teacher, Mr. Meschino, to all underclassmen.

I, Douglas Pratt, do hereby bequeath my history book to some lucky Junior.

I, Rosalie Pratt, do hereby bequeath my love for Salesmanship and Retailing to anyone who wants it.

We, Carol Serio and Madelyn Prizito, leave our ability for being late to anyone who can do the job as well as we.

We, Joanne Roode and Mary Pukas, do hereby bequeath our garbage-filled locker by the boys' gym to Sylvia Algiere and Sandra Card whom we know won't mind the boys' old lunches!

We, Judy Rizzuto and Lynda Sacco, do hereby bequeath our nippy freezing halftime performances at football games to any future twirlers.

I, Fred Roever, leave the good times I had in 6 and 7 to Dusty Saunders.

We, Zallie Schmitt and Sandra Romanella, leave our ability in chemistry to any underclassman who will undertake such a task.

I, Charlie Ruisi, leave my free pass from all boring study halls to some unsuspecting member of the next Senior class.

I, John Rutledge, leave my French book to Ian Carson and any other underclassman foolish enough to take the course.

I, Jack Russell, leave my seat in the rear of physics class to anyone who likes to sit on radiators.

I, Margy Sabins, do hereby bequeath my ability to get along with Mr. Comtois and Mr. French to my sister, Charlene.

I, Jim Salimeno, leave this school to Chape Boumenot.

We, Joyce Scaglione and Nancy Gingerelli, do hereby bequeath our ability to wander in the halls after the bell to Frances Podzaline.

I, Jim Sheldon, leave my ability to get out of class to John Barber.

I, Pat Sheldon, do hereby leave the front seat in Mr. Fallon's history class to anyone who doesn't blush.

I, Janet Sherman, do hereby bequeath my habit of eating in English class to anyone brave enough to do it.

I, Mike Smith, do hereby bequeath everything in this school to James "Filter Tip" O'Donnell.

I, Joe Spano, leave the record and name of my basketball team, Les Rois, to Jessy Perry and A. J. Morrone.

I, Diane Serra, do hereby bequeath my alarm clock to Marsha Iacoi with the hope that it will get her to school on time as it did for me.

We, Judy Tattersall and Connie Tobin, leave our locker on the gym floor to any two future Seniors who can survive the mad rush of Sophomores.

We, Diana Terpening and Mary Turrisi, leave our motto which gained for us the nicknames, "Terrible Terp" and "Bloody Mary," by two older boys.

I, Delores Terranova, do hereby bequeath my desk in Homeroom 10 to anyone who can keep their foot still.

I, Ellen Thayer, do hereby bequeath my ability to flirt and get in trouble with the teachers to William Kipp. Keep it up! You're doing a good job already, Bill.

I, Cynthia Thibodeau, do hereby bequeath my seat in the cafeteria to anyone who is lucky enough to find it.

I, John Thompson, leave my Yogi Bear fan club card to Richie Boumenot.

I, Sandra Toscano, do hereby bequeath my lucky seat in physiology to anyone who can keep quiet.

I, Steve Turrisi, leave to Dennie Marie, Chape, and Joe Vitterito, the permission to smoke in the boys' room and leave the building any time they wish. "Hold the fort," I might be back.

I, Sally Twedell, do hereby bequeath my beat-up apartment in "Out of the Frying Pan" to any underclassman who thinks he can fix it up.

I, Maddy Vacca, do hereby bequeath to Angela Parisi my interests in Norwich; I'm moving on to New York.

I, Roger Valliere, leave my seat in the cafeteria to Tom Quattromani.

I, Bev Viteritto, do hereby bequeath my package of blue slips to Lois Sanquedolce hoping that she will use them with as much freedom as I.

I, Patty Viteritto, do hereby bequeath my parking space in front of the school to Carol Giorno.

I, Mary Youden, do hereby bequeath to MaryAnne Young all of my initials which are carved on the desks at W.H.S.

I, Sam Young, leave my seat in Coach's physics class to Richie Boumenot in hopes that he may learn as much as I did.

I, Judy Zanfini, do hereby bequeath to Jean Gervasini and Sharon McGunagle our daily notes to each other, knowing that they will carry on the tradition.

I, Peter Zegarzewski, leave my basketball team to John Arruda. Keep up the good work, Johnny.

We, the Class of 1960, do hereby bequeath our size in number and spirit to none other because it is ours alone.

We, the Class of 1960 keep our wonderful memories of W.H.S.

CLASS POEM

"ADIEU"

Hasten to finish all that must be done.
Say goodbye to younger friends, and wish them luck as they follow into your footsteps.
Bid farewell to those who have trained you for your life's work.

Quickly gather all your memories, and cherish them for they are

While the football Bulldogs were not successful record-wise this season, nevertheless it was a very encouraging season taking football as a whole. Starting with first year coach, Bob Peltier, the entire school seemed to look at the grid sport in a new light with the promise of better things to come in the future.

Coach Peltier's charges could count only one victory this season, that coming over North Prividence by a 14 to 0 score. Besides this contest, the Blues played very well on many other occasions. Although not able to overpower Stonington's grid machine in two tries, the Bulldogs were at their best on Thanksgiving day when they bowed 13 to 0. After yielding their favored foes two touchdowns early in the game, the Bulldogs dug in and didn't allow another score or anything near it that day. The Blues' offensive machine sputtered at first but started to move well as the game progressed. The WHS gang just couldn't seem to get the one big play they needed, and, although they topped the Bears in every offensive department, the Blues failed to cross the goal line.

There were other fine moments during the season . . . Outplaying Class B champs Deering for a half, almost upsetting Mt. St. Charles, Dennie Marie's spectacular run on Armistice Day, and others. Maury Lamb was the Outstanding Gridder against SHS on Thanksgiving Day.

More than anything the Bulldogs learned a great deal of football from the ground up. Coach Peltier, who seems destined for success, had able co-captains Jim Felicetti, Joe LaPere, and Charlie Kitchen. The unheralded Felicetti was more than a capable leader and played some mighty fine ball on the field, often going unnoticed.

Most of the boys were first year juniors and sophs who will have all their ability this fall, plus one vital element-experience. The teams in the strong Class B League will probably sit up and take notice when the WHS gridders take the field this fall. A large measure of any success that they may win for themselves will be caused by 1960's notable eleven.

BASKETBALL

Basketball again shook the very foundations of Westerly High for a good part of this winter, and when the season was completed, the Blues had won just about every trophy in Rhode Island and performed capably in Boston Garden in the New Englands.

The Bulldog hoop machine totaled 21 wins against six losses for the 1960 season. The Bulldogs 20th win, against LaSalle in the state finals, not only assured Westerly fans that theirs was the best high school hoop array in the state but also provided the reason for making "that trip to Boston", which everyone had been talking about for so long.

Getting to the championship game itself, the Bulldogs never were better in scoring a fantastic 77 to 72 upset win over LaSalle Academy. Long before the game the two fine teams were billed as the two top in Rhody, but the Maroon from Providence were generally conceded to be a shade sharper. Thus the Blues entered the game as underdogs, and the Bulldogs started to roll after two minutes. Much to the delight of Westerly fans and to the amazement of everyone else, the Bulldogs held LaSalle to a meager four points in the first quarter and led 15 to 4. The locals played increasingly good ball as the game moved on, and nearly everyone stared in disbelief when the Blues jumped ahead at the start of the fourth quarter.

The final period was the story of the game. LaSalle roared back and closed the gap. But the Bulldogs refused to fold, came back with a tremendous counterthrust of their own, and captured their fourth state title in six years.

Victory was Sweet for the Bulldogs, their student fans, and nearly everyone else connected with the team. Besides taking the state honors, Rog Hamilton was named outstanding player and to the first all tourney team. High scorer at the Providence College gym, there was no doubt who the best player on the floor was on that Wednesday evening. Maury Lamb was third outstanding played and also on the first team. Lamb, who played a big part in all the victories during the season but often went unnoticed, blossomed out in the tournament and was the most talked about player on the court. Playing most of the tournament with a severly sprained ankle, something which very few people knew, Fred Roever still was a standout and placed on the second all-tourney team.

Hamilton made the first all-state team, a mythical five based on the players' performances throughout the season. High scorer for two years, Rog was as good as everyone expected and better. The 6-2 forward's first claim to fame was his game winning basket against South Kingston in the '58 state finals, but he went on to even bigger and better things.

Roever also was named to the first all-state five, after playing only one season of varsity ball. Injuries in his soph and junior year kept Fred from gaining experience, but he came a long way in his senior season to gain a well deserved award.

Lamb, who probably set up more baskets than anyone in the state, was placed on the second all-state five. These three also took places on the first team, Class A Suburban Division.

Pete Chamberlain, who tallied 26 points in the state finals, and fifth starter, Kent Curry, who scrapped long after others had stopped, were named to the third Suburban team.

Coach Stellitano now has his fourth state championship in six years, in addition to a second and third place. The Blues seven titles in thirteen seasons is considered to be a record for any high school in the country, none withstanding. And all this has happened to a class B school against class A competition.

Except for the disasterous night against Wilbur Cross, the Blues performed well in Boston. Hamilton and Roever averaged 20 points each for three games as the Bulldogs edged Smith Academy, but bowed to the two Connecticut representatives. However, it was more of a thrill to play in Boston garden than anything else.

A banquet honoring area basketball teams, the annual banquet sponsored by the Boosters' Club, and various other dinners capped another tremendous hoop season.

The 1960 edition of the Westerly Bulldog baseball team compiled an eight and six record in the Southern Division, finishing in third place behind Coventry and Deering. The Blues were in the running for a play-off berth until the last week of the season, when they dropped a pair of league tilts.

Outstanding pitching and particularly the hitting of John Barber combined to make Ray Wright's first season a fairly successful one. Nick Stenhouse and Captain Dennie Marie both pitched well on different occasions, although often they had very few runs with which to work. Stenhouse, in two consecutive games against Bishop Hendricken and South Kingston, struck out 38 batters in sixteen innings. Against the Bishops, Nick allowed only one hit, a scratch single. Marie's top game also came against Hendricken. The Bulldog Captain had a no hitter going for six and two-thirds innings, but gave up a bloop hit with two outs in the seventh to lose the distinction of becoming the first WHS hurler to throw a no-hitter in many seasons.

Barber set enough marks to be the single outstanding player this season. The junior catcher handled his position behind the plate with versatility, but it was his hitting that made him a standout. The lefthanded sticker batted .468 in league play, easily winning the Southern Division batting title. The .468 batting average was second high in the state, five points behind Frank Vollaro of Barrington. These two players each banged out 21 hits to lead all players in the four divisions of the interscholastic league.

In the post season all-state selections, Barber earned a berth on the second all-state team. Vic Morgan, WHS second baseman, was on the second all-Southern Division team, behind Barber who made the first squad. Morgan was a big clutch for the Blues and was called the best .250 hitter in the league. Stenhouse made the third team behind standout hurlers, John Zielski and Jim Conn. Dick Pendola also received honorable mention.

The Bulldogs dropped a pair of games to the Stonington Bears, who went on to capture the Connecticut state title.

For the future, Coach Wright and assistant coach, Jack Sipes have most of their players back for next season. In the final game this year, Coach Wright used his juniors and sophs at every position and they proved that they will be a top notch outfit next season.

Captain Marie and his fellow seniors carry the memory with them of having played on three consecutive teams. When they were sophs, they finished second in the league and advanced to the state semi-finals. In their junior season, the Blues came in second in the SD and advanced to the quarter finals of the state play-offs. This season, the Bulldogs were third in the league, although they missed qualifying for the post season competition.
